bruckerd: man, i was reminded yesterday that i always get a lot of unwanted attention when i wear this shirt: <http://www.thinkgeek.com/tshirts-apparel/womens/5b3a/>

me: heh

me: that always annoys me

me: because 10 means ten me: since we write in denary by default

me: it should be 10₂

bruckerd: that's true

bruckerd: what kind of gets me is even more than that, it should probably be 00000010 to fill out all 8 bits bruckerd: but it's in my sunday tshirt pile, since i usually don't care what i'm wearing in sundays, and i needed to run extra errands yesterday, so more people saw it than they usually would

me: heh

bruckerd: sadly, all the attention was either waaaay too old, or a tad too young :(

me: haha

me: there's no such thing as too young bruckerd: uhh, there is when the deli checkout guy looks like he's maybe 15 :P

me: I would bone a 15 year old girl in an instant

me: :p

bruckerd: hahaha! i know you would ;) bruckerd: i'm not like that, sadly :(

me: your loss!

bruckerd: hahaha! yep, my loss :P bruckerd: i'm just not cougar material :( me: you're too young for a cougar me: anyway, the entire cougar concept is bullshit me: there's no such phenomenon bruckerd: well, there have always been women in their late 30s-40s who pick up men in their 20s, but i haven't noticed any uptick in the number of such women at all in the last 10 yrs

me: well, yes, exactly

bruckerd: they're just getting all kinds of undue attention me: this idea that there's been some growth in this market is nonsense bruckerd: yeah, absolutely!
